

Contemporary Issues

online open-access Journal for Social Sciences & Humanities

Call for Papers

Contemporary Issues (<http://contemporary-issues.cpi.hr>) is a peer-reviewed academic journal for social sciences and humanities, published by the Political Science Research Centre (www.cpi.hr), Zagreb, Croatia. The journal covers original work on contemporary research topics and issues, with an emphasis on pluralism of methods and approaches, as well as multidisciplinary sensibility. Articles and book reviews published cover disciplines such as political science, sociology, modern history and cultural anthropology.

The Journal is published annually, as an open-access online publication. The Editorial Board will only accept previously not published, original work, written either in English or Croatian. The Editorial Board will also consider book reviews of new and significant academic publications, as well as essays on current research in social sciences and humanities. The Journal is keen to encourage submissions from both established and young scholars.

Contemporary Issues is indexed in the following databases: Worldwide Political Science Abstracts, PAIS International, Social Services Abstracts, Sociological Abstracts, CEEOL, DOAJ, EBSCOhost, Open Archives, OAIster, Scientific Commons and BASE.

Contemporary Issues* is now seeking articles for the next issue -
